No surprise to anyone, but large countries have this way of splaying out all over the world, with lots of their territories in unexpected areas. The United States is no exception, with its array of minor outlying islands, mostly in the Pacific Ocean. But there's something weird about how many of these islands, mostly uninhabited today or used as minor scientific or military ...

Territories of the United States are sub-national administrative divisions and dependent territories overseen by the federal government of the United States. The American territories differ from the U.S. states and Indian reservations as they are not sovereign entities. [note 2] In contrast, each state has a sovereignty separate from that of the federal government and each federally ...

Overview. There are 14 territories administered by the United States but not claimed by any of the 50 US states. 9 of these territories are uninhabited, but in the 5 territories where educational institutions exist (American Samoa, Guam, Puerto Rico, the Northern Mariana Islands, and Puerto Rico), they follow the U.S. education system and are ...

Because they aren't a part of the United States, they are just minor territories, some want to join the US as another state like Puerto Rico and others are autonomous like Guam and the Virgin Islands. 60% of US territory is a military base to keep out Terrorists, Commies or Russians. As for the second US Flag, idk what is up with thay
